

The interactive website and app Class Dojo will be used to encourage positive student behavior.

It is a website that allows teachers to give students immediate feedback on their behavior –positive and negative. Students get very excited when they are awarded points, and I find it's a great way to keep everyone on task!

A great feature of the website is that it tracks the students' behavior over time and creates daily, weekly, and monthly reports for you to access at your convenience. If you don't utilize the technology I will print or email you a weekly and monthly report. Messages can also be sent between parents and teachers to easily stay connected. A class community is available for all users to view pictures and videos of student work and assignments.

I hope that our using Class Dojo will give you some more insight as to how your child is doing in our classroom behaviorally, socially, and academically. I know you will be proud to see the great behaviors they are displaying, and in turn if there is something they need to work on, you will be able to see that as well.

Students will be able to utilize their dojo points for varying rewards on a weekly basis.
