Letter from the Principal

Parents and Guardians,

It is extremely important to us that you have some input in your child's academic and social well being at our school. Although we have discontinued the teacher selection process (teacher requests), we still want you to have input about your child. We will be sending home a survey specific to your child's strengths, and specific concerns you may have to better fit them with a classroom teacher. Our grade level teaching staff all work together to group students based on learning outcomes for standards and based on data. Your child will most likely experience every teacher at some time throughout the school year.

If your child has specific academic concerns, please feel free to make an appointment to come in and discuss alternative placement for your child.

Some alternatives might include: Retention, with extra support, or interventions planned for behavior or academic concerns.

Thank You
Mrs. Erickson

Improving Your Child's Self-Esteem

Of all the things we help our children learn and do, helping them to develop a healthy self-esteem is probably most important. This is because self-esteem affects all aspects of their lives – how they learn, how they interact with friends, how they treat others, how they problem solve, how they handle adversity, and how willing they are to try new things. Here are some tips to help your child develop healthy self-esteem

Praise your child: Notice when your child has done something well and tell them! Easy on the criticism. They should hear 5 positives for every 1 negative thing you say. Instead of “person praise” (e.g., “You are creative”), offer “process praise” (e.g., “You found a really good way to do it.”)

Criticize the Behavior, not the child: When your child misbehaves, say, “What you did was hurtful, and I know you are a nice kid. How can you make this better?” Do not label your child, “bad” or, say, “What is wrong with you.”

Validate feelings: If your child gets a blow to their self-esteem, they need you to allow them to feel sad, hurt, or mad. After, you can boost them up with positives. How to validate? Try listening to the whole story and validating their feelings along the way, for example, Hold their hand, sitting with them rub their back, saying, “I’m here.” “uh-huh” “right”, nodding, summarizing their feelings to show understanding.

Give your child Chores: Children learn how to function in groups by learning how their own family cooperates. Set your child up to be a team player by giving age-appropriate chores at home. Offer praise for their work. Did you know you get 600,000 hits when you google, “Age appropriate chores for children”, you don’t have to re-invent the wheel, use the sources out there.

Give the gift of Time: Your children know how busy you are, so when you find 10 minutes to listen about their day or play a game, they will feel worthy and loved. The gift of time spent is worth much more than the gift of money spent.

Avoid harmful comparisons: Do not compare your child to others, especially siblings. Instead of saying, “Why can’t you be more like so-and-so?” try, “Do you notice that so-and-so does this?” Let your child know that it’s okay to be different, and that you don’t expect perfection.

After School Program

Morning Computer Club Madness! 7:00 am to 7:45 am, students will be able to eat breakfast at 7:45 am.

Your student will need to fill out a form to attend the club, they can get this form from the 21st coordinator in the office (Mrs. B). Both After School Program and the Morning Computer Club Madness will be going on until May 11th.

The After School Program in the PM is now full at this time, if you have turned in a form and not heard from the Coordinator your student is on the waiting list. There is no promise your child will be put into the After School Program this late in the year.

May 2nd the 21st Century will be hosting a Career Fair at the Page Middle School. If your student is in the After School Program there will be awards handed out. There will be fun exciting careers to learn about, along with students from the Middle School with their science projects. Feel free to let your child dress up in a costume of the career they would like to be in when they grow up! We will also have a raffle for prizes! Flyers and more information will be handed out this month.

The After School Program Garden Update: We now have the fence and it will hopefully be put in this month. We are hoping that our students will be able to grow food this year and students participating in our summer school program will get to use the garden as well!
