

Mrs. Williams' Final Newsletter

May 30, 2017

My how the year has flown by. Truthfully, I'm not ready to let go of these munchkins yet. I have truly enjoyed having them in my class and know that they will be in awesome hands next year. Two 4th graders came and talked to us today to tell the kiddos what to expect next year. Mrs. Pretorius is an awesome teacher and they will love her, just as much as she will love them!

This week will be totally different as weeks past. We will not have a Spelling list or test. This week will be totally directed at finishing our projects. The dioramas were due today and they are awesome. They did such a good job! Today we are starting our posters and will finish them up on Thursday morning. Don't forget that you are all invited to see our Endangered/Threatened Species Exhibit on Thursday. We will have them on display from 1:45-3:00. I hope everyone can make it!

Tomorrow is the day we have been waiting for! Tomorrow is the Tin Caps game! We will leave the school at 8:30 and return by 3:15, in time for the students to ride their regular bus home. Students should put on sunscreen before coming to school. They may wear a hat and sunglasses if they wish. They may also bring money for souvenirs and snacks, but it is not required. Lunch WILL be provided. Go Tin Caps!!

Friday will be our final awards program of the year. It will start at 1:45.

Friday is going to be hard day for me. Not only will I be saying goodbye to your kiddos, but I will be saying goodbye for the last time. I tear up just thinking about it. Please know that it has been my pleasure having your little ones this year and I have loved teaching them and all the other children I have had over the years. I always tell student teachers: "Teaching is not a career, it is a calling. If you're not in it for the children, you don't need to be here!" Thank you for sharing your children with me and know that they will always hold a special place in my heart!
